

2 Open Positions - Graduate Student Reader, LS110 Career Exploration in Life Sciences

Life Sciences 110 is a career development course designed for life sciences majors. LS110 is a 2 unit P/NP course and will be offered in Winter Quarter 2017 on Wednesday evenings from 4:00-5:50pm. The course is offered in the evenings to provide the least amount of conflict with other academic, extracurricular, and employment responsibilities. To learn more about the course, please visit: <https://ceils.ucla.edu/ls110>

The Graduate Student Reader position is a great opportunity for graduate students interested in mentoring and learning about active learning in the classroom and the career development process.

Requirements:

Applicants must be graduate students interested in helping Life Science Undergraduates with their career development. Students can work up to 8-9 hrs per week.

Responsibilities:

1. Reviewing and giving feedback on resumes and cover letters
2. Reviewing and grading informational interview reports, self-reflection assignments, and final career portfolios.
3. Reviewing answers to online questions
4. Attending 3-5 classes that meet from 4:00-5:50pm on Wednesdays starting January 11, 2017 through February 8, 2017. (1/11, 1/18, 1/25, 2/1, 2/8)

Graduate Student Readers will be given training by course instructor Dr. Rachel Kennison on how to give feedback on assignments.

Deadline: Positions need to be filled immediately! Please contact Dr. Rachel Kennison at rkennison@ceils.ucla.edu ASAP if interested in the position.
